About

Opened in Edinburgh in November 2024, Lost Shore was the world's first inland surf resort, offering something for everyone.

Three times the size of Wembley football pitch, it is Europe's largest wave pool and one of the most advanced on the planet! Powered by Wavegarden's Cove technology, we can generate up to 1,000 waves per hour, ensuring endless thrills for surfers of all levels! It is also the most sustainable solution in the industry, consuming less energy than a single chairlift at a ski resort and up to 10x less energy per wave than some other wave producing facilities. We also have the world's largest rental fleet of plant-based wetsuits specifically designed to keep you warm.

Set in extensive grounds with access to woodland and canal-side walks, the resort has 53 luxury accommodation units made up of Hilltop Lodges as well as Waterfront Pods and Lodges (6 fully accessible), sleeping up to 8 people, along with waterfront bar, café and restaurants showcasing Scotland's exciting food and drink scene. There is so much to do at the resort beyond surfing in the wave pool. Unwind at Spa Studio with a wellness treatment, or relax at with a session at Spear Sauna.

A trip to Lost Shore will allow you to mix family-fun, escapism and adventure creating memories to last a lifetime!

Surf Equipment
Wetsuits & Surfboards

- We have taken great care selecting the best possible wetsuits for our pool and have gone through rigorous testing to ensure that they will be the best possible quality and keep you toasty warm through your whole session.

- If you have never surfed before and have always assumed that Scotland was “just too cold for that nonsense”, then think again! Due to the impressive amount of design and technology that goes into a modern wetsuit, the surfer in the water is normally warmer than the walker on the beach!

- At Lost Shore we have an amazing range of rental surfboards suitable for surfers of all abilities and styles. If you wanted to upgrade to a different board for your lesson/session, then our staff will be more than happy to guide and help you find the

Surf Ability

- Your surfing ability will determine the surf experiences that are most suitable for you but don’t worry, our “Surf Ability” selector will help you find your ability. You can find it in our website.

- If you end up in a lesson or a session that is above your surfing ability and you are unable to surf it, we will ask you to leave the water for safety reasons so start low, build your ability and enjoy the process!

- And remember, surfing is not about pushing yourself to the limits of your ability, it’s about finding a wave that suits you and puts a smile on your face. From cruising on a longboard to getting barreled on a high performance shortboard, you’ll find your wave at Lost Shore Surf Resort!

Acessibility

Lost Shore Surf Resort is a world class facility, which has held inclusivity and accessibility as key guiding principles, since its inception. Surfing has traditionally been a sport which has had many barriers to participation, both physical and perceived. We arecommitted to identify those barriers and removing them wherever possible:

- Parking – 16 blue badge parking spaces at the main entrance along with coach/minibus spaces and EV charging.
- Accommodation – 6 fully DDA accessible Waterfront Lodges.
- Pathways – wide, 250m, gentle gradient tarmac road leading down to the HUB Building. Mixed slopes and surfaces around the country park, with ongoing improvements.
- Buildings – single storey buildings with shallow ramps, wheelchair accessibility, QR code ordering, gender neutral toilets, accessible and baby change facilities.
- Changing Area – accessible showers, accessible toilets, accessible changing area, baby change facilities, family changing area and private cubicles.
- Waterfront Area – smooth tarmac beach front with minimal gradient, access ramps, inclusive and adaptive surfing sessions in collaboration with Inclusive Surfing Scotland.
- Commitment to Accessibility – shared focus on removing physical and perceived barriers to surfing and an ongoing process to identify and improve accessibility areas.

Location

Located in Ratho, we are 10 minutes from Edinburgh airport and less than 5 miles from Scotland's main motorway systems: M8, M9 and Edinburgh city bypass. We are located between Edinburgh (25 minutes' drive) and Glasgow (45 minutes' drive).

Venue Address

Lost Shore Surf Resort, 11 South Platt Hill,
Newbridge, EH28 8AY

Free parking is available and our main car park is a short 200m walk from our entrance building.

By Bus: Services by Lothian bus service 70 to Ratho, Hallcroft Park then a 600m walk to Lost Shore along Hallcroft Path.

By Tram: Catch the Edinburgh tram from central Edinburgh to The Gyle. Walk to the bus stop Gyle Centre (KF) and board the number 70 bus to Hallcroft Park. From here, walk 600m along Hallcroft Path to Lost Shore.

By Bike: Cycle along the Union canal and take the stairs up to the EICA. Go past the car park and we're just around the corner. If arriving by E-Bike, we would advise leaving the cycle path at Ratho Marina and following the road to Hallcroft Park, to avoid the steep access at EICA from Tow Path.
